

INGLÉS 6º SEMANA 5

Esta semana vamos a seguir repasando el pasado de los verbos.

REMEMBER

AFFIRMATIVE	Subjet + verb past (regular ed, irregular 2º)...
NEGATIVE	Subjet + did not + verb
INTERROGATIVE	Did + Subjet + verb?

Con este fin, a continuación te presento tres ejercicios para que afiances el aprendizaje.

Si no tienes impresora, escríbelos en tu cuaderno. Trabaja un poco cada día, como si tuviéramos clase. Trata de hacerlo de manera ordenada, con buena letra y distintos colores para cada idioma.

Desde aquí , os mando un abrazo muy fuerte y mucho ánimo, campeón@s.

Esta semana tienes que subrayar los verbos en pasado que encuentres en la “reading” que te envío, clasificarlos en regulares e irregulares y escribir su significado. (si aparecen dos veces, cópialos solo una). La próxima semana seguiremos con esta lectura.

The lump of gold

Paul was a very rich man, but he never spent any of his money. He was scared that someone would steal it. He pretended to be poor and wore dirty old clothes. People laughed at him, but he didn't care. He only cared about his money.

Story Time

One day, he bought a big lump of gold. He hid it in a hole by a tree. Every night, he went to the hole to look at his treasure. He sat and he looked. 'No one will ever find my gold!' he said.

But one night, a thief saw Paul looking at his gold. And when Paul went home, the thief picked up the lump of gold, slipped it into his bag and ran away!

The next day, Paul went to look at his gold, but it wasn't there. It had disappeared! Paul cried and cried! He cried so loud that a wise old man heard him. He came to help. Paul told him the sad tale of the stolen lump of gold. 'Don't worry,' he said. 'Get a big stone and put it in the hole by the tree.'

'What?' said Paul. 'Why?'

'What did you do with your lump of gold?'

'I sat and looked at it every day,' said Paul.

'Exactly,' said the wise old man. 'You can do exactly the same with a stone.'

Paul listened, thought for a moment and then said, 'Yes, you're right. I've been very silly. I don't need a lump of gold to be happy!'
